

Real Estate Investment Forum

2011 Overview

You are cordially invited to attend the Real Estate Investment Forum to hear a panel of northwest real estate experts including fund managers, developers, market analysts, and investors discuss the current market trends and investment opportunities. Topics will include the status of the credit markets, distressed opportunities, bank notes, land development and commercial and residential investment opportunities. This forum will address which asset classes present the best opportunities and how investors can best access and capitalize on these opportunities. We look forward to your attendance.
